

The truth affirmed—again—that there was no national security interest served by invading Iraq.

The President diverted the nation from Afghanistan and the hunt for bin Laden.

And, the President diluted our resources by continuing to commit manpower and money to the wrong place, at the wrong time, without a national security priority. Instead of leading America back to the front line of the war on terror, the President continues to push America deeper into a civil war in Iraq.

The fifth anniversary of 9/11 could have been marked by the President leading the nation in quiet, personal reflection. Instead, the President used a prime time television address to try to shore up his own faltering support among the American people.

The Administration's singular focus today is to sustain a fiction about Iraq and al-Qaeda. They are trapped inside their own rhetoric and keep talking as if that will produce a different outcome.

On Sunday the Vice President gave us fear. On Monday, the President gave us fiction. On Tuesday, the Republican Majority Leader gave us inflammatory rhetoric worthy of a nation without Democracy as its form of government.

Terrified at the prospect of losing power, Republicans will say anything to make people afraid.

In a meeting with reporters, the majority leader wondered aloud whether Americans who disagree with the President might be giving aid and comfort to the enemy, might be guilty of treason.

The U.S. Supreme Court ruled that we are a nation of laws, not men, even in a time of war, and that the President must follow the law like everyone else. Instead of affirmation, we got accusations last night from a Republican leader.

The President, Vice President and Speaker of the House—all Republicans—were silent in response.

We are going to need a lot of jail cells to house the millions of Americans, including the Supreme Court, who believe America is a nation of laws worth defending and upholding.

The majority of the American people want their government to remain Of the People, By the People and For the People.

Republicans have a different vision. They govern by accusation in order to obtain acquiescence.

Since Sunday, Republicans have moved from fear, to fiction, from inflammatory rhetoric to closed debate.

House Republican leaders are not interested in having America stand united.

That's why they passed a resolution that has to do with clinging to power, not 9/11.

The resolution will not make America safer, but it was passed in the hope of making Republicans safer.

The Republican resolution was about November 7, not September 11 and Republicans sacrificed patriotism for political ambition.

Trapped by their own rhetoric, and led by a President who has lost the trust of the American people, Republicans have retreated to their last stand—Making you afraid.

Every time they rise, remember this: Republicans have propped up this President by spending more on the Iraq War than on domestic security. Many Republicans in this House know the truth. They just can't speak it, for fear of being outed by their own Party Leadership.

Republicans will only say what the President wants you to hear. And it is not the truth. The American people are getting that somewhere else. Republicans gave us fear and fiction around the fifth anniversary of 9/11. Just imagine what they have in store for us in the weeks ahead.

Fear has never made America safer. But that's all the Republicans have to offer. And that's simply not enough to protect and defend America in the 21st century.

IRAQ WATCH

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker's announced policy of January 4, 2005, the gentleman from Connecticut (Mr. LARSON) is recognized for 60 minutes as the designee of the minority leader.

Mr. LARSON of Connecticut. Mr. Speaker, I once again thank distinguished members who will be joining me here on the floor to continue a process that was begun by Mr. DELAHUNT, Mr. ABERCROMBIE, Mr. KUCINICH, and Mr. INSLEE called The Iraq Watch.

This was formed in the spirit of understanding, as I think the Nation has come to understand, that within this Beltway and within this Nation and specifically here in Congress, that we have one-party rule. The Republican Party controls the administration and all of its agencies, it controls the House of Representatives and the United States Senate, and in the process, has stifled opportunity for oversight and review and a thorough discussion on the pressing issue of Iraq that concerns the entire American republic. I commend my colleagues for having initiated The Iraq Watch.

This evening, as in others, we start with an acknowledgement that, fortunately, because of the efforts of so many who have served in our military, we in Congress on both sides of this aisle have come to understand and differentiate between the war and the warriors, those brave men and women who serve our country on a daily basis and who are in harm's way in Iraq, in Afghanistan, and around this globe on our behalf. We come here because we desire an opportunity to speak truth to power.

Earlier this evening, one of our esteemed colleagues from the other side rose and said, "What are the Democrats for?" We are for an administration that will level with the American people, starting first and foremost with leveling with our troops, especially the families of our troops; specifically, the Reservists and National Guardsmen who have been deployed, redeployed, deployed, and redeployed again in Afghanistan and Iraq with no certainty given to them. And we are for an administration that is worthy of the sacrifice that has been put forward by the men and women of our armed services.

Franklin Delano Roosevelt said, "The only thing we have to fear is fear itself." And in this very solemn week where we pause to reflect on our brave heroes of 9/11, those innocent people who perished in the towers in New York, at the Pentagon, and in the fields of Pennsylvania, and those brave and valiant first responders who rallied to the call in New York, here at the Pentagon and in Pennsylvania, we are for the vigilance of the survivors, and victims of 9/11 who called and prevailed upon this body to pass all the 9/11 recommendations.

We are for passing all the 9/11 recommendations, more than half of which have not been enacted by this Congress 5 years after September 11. We are for accountability, as Mr. SCHIFF pointed out in his comments, because we understand that in a one-party town where there is no oversight and review and no one willing on the other side of the aisle to speak truth to power, that it falls on the shoulders of the Democrats to speak out on behalf of the American public, to speak truth where there has been little.

Graham Allison pointed out that the occupation in Iraq has placed us in a situation where we have diverted essential resources from the fight against al Qaeda, allowed the Taliban to regroup in Afghanistan, fostered neglect of the Iranian nuclear threat, undermined alliances critical to preventing terrorism, devastated America's standing with every country in Europe, and
